“We are very proud of the U.S. Access Board recognizing ICC as experts in emergency evacuation procedures that will address everyone, including those that may need assistance,” Paarlberg said.

The ICC website offers a free comparison matrix (www.iccsafe.org/ADAAG-Matrix) of the 1994 ADAAG, the 2004 ADA/ABA Guidelines (now the 2010 ADA Standard) and the 2006 or 2009 IBC with the ICC A117.1-2003. The publication Significant Changes to the ICC A117.1 Accessibility Standards 2009 Edition is another resource for building officials, plans examiners, inspectors and designers. More information, including free downloadable brochures, is available at www.iccsafe.org/adaag.
